How to get around?

Recommendation: take a rental car or a Campervan and do a selfdrive through the country (4WD is only necessary if you want to visit the highlands of Iceland)

Alternatives:

- private or shared group tours
- public busses (only recommended in high season)
- domestic flights (main airports: Reykjavik, Isafjordur, Akureyri, Egilsstadir)

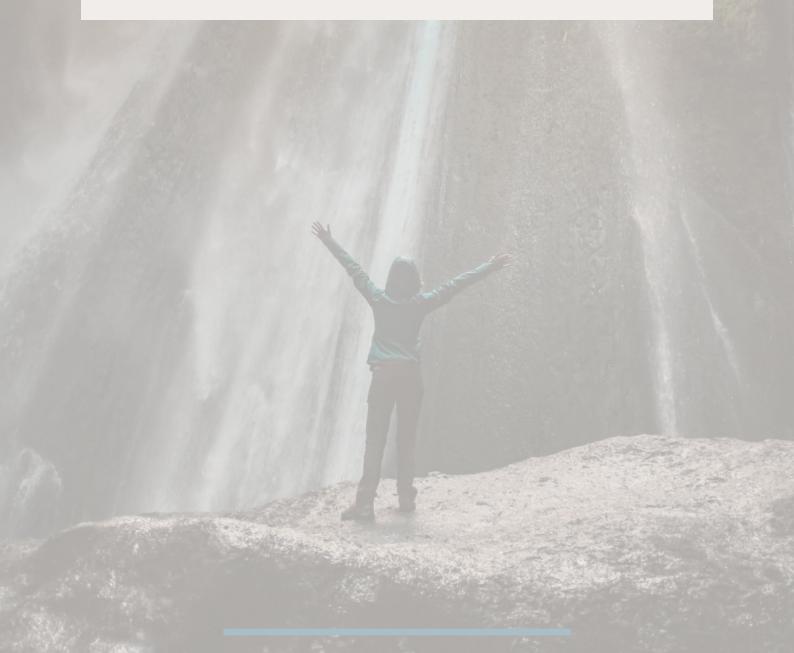

Good to know!

- Iceland is one of the most expensive countries in the world
- credit cards can be used almost everywhere, but keep in mind that you need to enter your pin when paying with card
- wild camping is totally forbidden in Iceland (some exceptions in the highlands)
- if you travel with a tent or camper in high and mid season we recommend you to buy a camping card. (valid for 28 nights on selected campgrounds all over the country)
- even in the summer months it can get pretty cold especially at nighttime. The daily temperatures in summer are between 12 15 degrees
- be prepared that you need to pay for almost everything in iceland (parking, hot showers on campgrounds...)
- if you plan a trip between June September book early and plan your trip precisly. Iceland is not a last-minute destination
